

Do Science and God Mix?

Melbourne | Adelaide | Perth | Brisbane | Sydney

Speaker

Prof John Lennox

Professor of Mathematics at Oxford University, Fellow in Mathematics and the Philosophy of Science, best-selling author, international debater and spokesman on the fusion of science, philosophy and religion.

Do you wonder about the fusion of Christianity and science?

Don't miss the opportunity to hear Professor John Lennox address one of the most crucial issues of our age: do science and God mix?

A five-city tour designed for the skeptically minded and the scientifically curious, for the atheist and the believer, or for anyone who wrestles with the claims of science and faith.

The evening will include a presentation by Professor Lennox, moderated discussion and audience Q&A.

John Lennox combines Irish wit and intellect to communicate complex ideas in an accessible manner. He has debated Richard Dawkins, Christopher Hitchens, Peter Singer, Michael Shermer and Lawrence Krauss at events around the globe.

“There is no more important debate than this – science versus religion. But it needs to begin again, with a clear understanding of what science and religion actually are. Lennox has done this wonderfully.” – Colin Tudge, The Guardian
